Lists

Lists are indented by 25 pt and their items are separated by a little stretchable space:

- The first item is short.
- The second item is long enough to wrap onto a second line, so its continuation lines up with the text of the item and not with the bullet.
  - A nested item takes an en dash as its label.
  - Another nested item.
- The last item.

Numbered lists count in arabic numerals, then letters:

1. Measure the paragraph.
2. Break it into lines.
   (a) Try every feasible break.
   (b) Keep the cheapest.
3. Build the pages.